Saturday Night.

William L. Coale, for many years a member of the city council at Warren, spoke at the Kiwanis luncheon Wednesday noon, giving the Salem Kiwanians some pertinent suggestions about the kind of water supply that a city should have. It was Mr. Coale who led and won the fight for Warren's municipal water works.

"The modern city should look forward in anticipation of the greater population that is sure to come in a very short number of years," urged Mr. Coale. "Every city wants a safe and adequate source of water supply, and it is generally agreed that a surface supply controlled in an impounding basin, properly purified and distributed throughout the city is the most dependable supply for the average community."

"The money spent for Warren's municipal waterworks was the best investment the city ever made. I understand that Salem is considering the water question, and I trust that the city council will decide upon a plan that will take care of the requirements of a city that has shown such progress as Salem has."

SALINEVILLE OFFICIAL THREATENED; MUST PAY $1,000 AND LEAVE TOWN

Salineville, April 26. — Federal postal authorities at Cleveland last night were asked to investigate the receipt of two threatening letters by Howard Baker of Salineville, who he reported last night to the police.

The first of the letters, crudely written in red ink, demanded that he relinquish his position as township trustee, pay $1,000, and leave Salineville immediately. He received this letter last week.

The second letter was received Tuesday. In the same handwriting was written: "Take heed to the first letter we sent or you'll feel the consequences." Below was a roughly drawn heart in red ink, with the figure of a dagger through it.

It is thought at Salineville, where both letters were postmarked, that the threats are an outcome of bitter feeling aroused at the last election.

VARIOUS SOLDIER BONUS PROPOSALS SPLIT COMMITTEE

Senator McCumber Pressing
New Plan Sure It Will Be Satisfactory.

ONE WOULD STRIKE
OUT CASH PAYMENT

Smoot Pushing Insurance
Plan. Others Want
Cash Paid.

Washington, April 26.—Republican members of the senate finance committee were still split today on the various soldiers' bonus proposals.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, the committee chairman, was pressing his new bonus plan which to appeared confident would ultimately provide a "satisfactory solution of the tangled situation."

Senator Smoot of Utah said that the McCumber plan had not altered his intentions to carry his fight for his paid-up insurance policy proposal to the senate floor, if a majority of the committee refused to accept it.

Smoot's proposal would eliminate all cash compensation. McCumber would provide cash for ex-service men entitled to $100 or less, according to the length of their service in the World war.

Would Pay All Cash
Senator Bursum of New Mexico, chairman of the senate pensions committee, was among a number of Republican senators who declared that they were in favor of all ex-service men being paid in cash outright on the basis of $1 a day for some service and $1.25 a day for overseas service, no matter how long or short their service, or how much cash they were entitled to.

Bursum estimated that only $1,500,000,000 would be required to "pay the boys spot cash and send them away satisfied."

Smoot argued that his insurance plan would afford ex-service men and their families "better protection" against the future. He figured that $4,500,000,000 would provide them all with paid-up insurance policies to mature at the end of 20 years.

On the basis of an ex-service man being entitled to $500 cash compensation, such a policy, Smoot explained, would be worth about $2,100 when the 20 years was up, or if its holder died in the meantime.

Lisbon, April 26.—Judge John B. Worley today affirmed the finding of Mayor I. C. Bean of Lisbon in the case of the state of Ohio against George Neago, the Salem man who was arrested by dry agents and brought here on a charge of selling liquor in violation of law.

Neago was fined $1,000. He appealed the case on the ground that the finding was against the weight of the evidence. Judge Worley held that the evidence was sufficient. It is said that the case will be carried to the court of appeals.

Four liquor cases that have come up from the courts below on motion to file petitions in error are being argued before Judge J. G. Moore today. They involve Thomas Cloran, Evar Evans, Walter Jackson and Philip Brennan, all of whom had been fined for violation of liquor laws.

FLOOD IN TEXAS CLAIMS 17 LIVES, 2,500 HOMELESS

Ft. Worth Property Damage
Will Run Into Millions
It Is Estimated.

SEARCH FOR BODIES
CONTINUING TODAY

Chairman Of Levee Board Charges Dikes Were Dynamited.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 26.—Loss of 17 lives, approximately 2,500 rendered homeless and property damage that will run into the millions is the toll of Fort Worth's greatest flood which has raged since Tuesday morning.

Rescue workers, under the direction of the Fort Worth chapter of the American Red Cross, combed portions of the flood areas for bodies Wednesday morning without success.

Augmented by additional heavy rains, the flood water continued to rise today and officials were pronouncing the situation more grave than Tuesday when the Trinity river first started on its rampage.

As the search for bodies continued, a grand jury investigation was demanded on charges by John J. McCain, chairman of the levee boards, that the dikes had been dynamited Monday night, causing the breaks through which the flood reached many sections of the city.

Call For More Workers
With the river still rising, threatening to sweep out in the lowlands, Mayor L. G. White, leader of rescue work, issued a call early this morning for several hundred more volunteer workers to perform rescue work. His appeal was quickly answered.

Ben K. Keith, directing the rescue work of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, reported the Red Cross workers had the situation well in hand and that no outside assistance was needed.

Later in the day the crest of the flood had passed.

As the water began to lower hundreds of workers began a search for bodies. None had been recovered at noon but it was estimated the list of dead in the flooded area would mount close to 50. The Trinity river had dropped over six feet this afternoon.

TOO BUSY WITH FARM WORK TO ENTER RACE, HALVERSTADT REPLIES

Leetonia, April 26.—Clark J. Halverstadt, president of the Columbiana County Bureau, will not permit his name to be used as a candidate for state representative on Republican ticket at the August primary.

"I'm tied up with my farm work, and that's what I'm interested in more than anything else just now," he said. "It is mighty fine for my friends to suggest my name in this connection, but really, I'm just a bit too busy with farm activities to give attention to matter political."

It has been intimated that John Kerr, of Yellow Creek township, a member of the County Fair Board and also active in the work of the Columbiana County Farm Bureau will soon announce his candidacy for county commissioner.

Accidental Criminals

IN protecting a community from crime as in protecting it from disease and costly litigation, the modern tendency is to find out fundamental causes and then to prevent as far as possible their recurrence. Locking up the criminal temporarily is not protection for society unless the criminal is cured and other persons are kept from becoming criminals.

Not sentimental sympathy but straight common sense is back of much of present-day prison reform and constructive activity in behalf of growing boys and girls. The chaplain of one reformatory recently told a group of business men:

"Sixty per cent of our boys are accidental criminals—offenders on a sudden impulse."

There is no reason to assume that any of that 60 per cent are born criminals at heart, or that any of them, having committed a single crime, must inevitably go into a career of offense against law and order and decency.

Wholesome recreation, enough suitable and interesting work to keep hands and brains occupied, the feeling that the world is with them and not against them, the friendly sympathy of a wise adult expressed at the right time, are some of the things which must prevent those first offenses or any subsequent repetition of them.

Who, knowing these things, can open public playgrounds for city children, recreational activities for rural districts and more helpful co-operation between school and public?

Everybody's Ghost

WHILE Conan Doyle and the rest of the noted lecturers are going around telling people there's no cause to be afraid of death or ghosts or anything, and one way or another getting everybody to pondering and wasting a lot of time wondering whether there really are ghosts, Ellis Parker Butler in the American Magazine is telling people all about Ghosts What Ain't.

Mr. Butler says everybody has 'em. And everybody suffers from them—until he kills them. Because this kind of ghost can be killed and buried and need never rise again. They are your fears of what's going to happen—and never does.

Jonah, he says, took the boat because he was afraid that a camel might bite him or make him seasick or something. So he ended in the whale. If he had killed his ghost-what-ain't, he might have gone on the camel in comfort.

The young man who is afraid the man he has to see may turn him down needs to kill his ghost. There is the ghost of being afraid the other fellows will wear something different to the party, and the ghost of being afraid to tackle buying a home because you might get sick and miss a monthly payment—and all the rest.

The surest thing about all these ghosts is their unreality. A little spunk disposes of every last one of them.

Montana has just imported 1,000 game birds for distribution through the state, "to make up the losses due to the pot hunter and game hog," and the p. h. and g. h. will doubtless load their guns and start right out looking for them.

It's really easy to do business with the Russian Soviet government. All you have to do is to believe everything Lenine and Chicherin say, and give them everything they demand.

After Pirate Lafitte's Chest of Gold.

Two energetic young men have established a camp on the lower part of Padre Island in the Gulf of Mexico on the Texas shore, in an effort to locate the gold-laden chests of the Pirate Lafitte who, according to the legends of the country, frequented those parts and it is supposed that some of the wealth which he accumulated must be buried in the sands of that shore. The men say they are there to stay and they have brought some machinery with which the work will be facilitated. It is said that they have uncovered some interesting material which leads them to believe that they are on the right track.

DON'T BLAME THE CHILD

Don't scold your children for lack of control over the kidney "excursions." It is not away, the children's fault—in many cases it means weak kidneys and can be readily righted. Read this Salem mother's advice.

Mrs. E. J. Mohan, 117 West Pershing ave., Salem, says: "My daughter, Judy, had a spell of kidney trouble that had me worried. I regret she was restless and nervous and had no control over her kidneys. At first I scolded her, because I thought it had grown into a habit. Then, she complained that her eyes bothered her. She said that things became so hurried she couldn't see. I took her to the doctor and he thought it was her kidneys that were causing the trouble. He recommended Don's Kidney Pills, so I bought a box. After she had taken several doses, I noticed a change. She seemed less restless and nervous and wasn't troubled so much with her eyes. After I had given her one box, her kidneys were no longer weak and she rested better. She is now back at her studies and never complains about kidney trouble."

DENBY'S WARNING BASED ON FACTS

PROPAGANDISTS OF SOVIETISM,
COMMUNISM AND ANARCHY
ARE TRULY DANGEROUS.

GOVERNMENT ON THE ALERT

Bureau of Investigation of Department of Justice Asks More Money, and Every Traitor and Agent of Destruction Objects.

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington.—It did not take Secretary Denby's recent warning to the navy to guard themselves ashore and abroad from the preaching of sovietism, communism and anarchy. To let students of the situation in Washington know that the United States is alive with propagandists bent on the destruction of decent government. Of course, it is known that self-meaning people will say this is unfounded alarm, but nevertheless it is the truth, and men here know it.

In one of the current appropriations bills there is a request for an additional sum of money for the use of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice. Every representative of every radical organization in the United States is using his influence to prevent the granting of the money. Within an hour of this writing it has been said to me that the belief of some people that there is pernicious activity on the part of the radicals, and that watchfulness and action are needed to offset it, is "bunk." The word quoted is the word that was used. The writer knows otherwise. He had something to do with the looking after matters of this kind during the war and he knows what is going on today.

Some of the propaganda is not at all subtle. It is possible to get evidence of it in the open at the social gatherings in the city of Washington. We have here parlor Reds in numbers.

Need for Watchfulness.

Some persons have gone so far as to say that we ought to have no intelligence service in the army and navy of today, because the United States government should not engage in the work of looking after the activities of American citizens. Uncle Sam does not care a whit what the ordinary American citizen does, so long as he keeps within the law. The man, however, who preaches destruction—and this man's name is multitude—needs looking after if the people are going to retain what they have of sane government.

Men here who know what is going on do not blame the Department of Justice in the least for asking for additional funds to check the active propagandists in behalf of anarchy, sovietism and communism, or whatever you choose to call it. Over in New York city there is a bunch of so-called intellectuals who write stuff which feeds the imagination of those who read it. Most of the writers were shakers during the war and those of them who did not have to serve because of age, or dependents, wrote everything they could to injure the cause of their country, taking care, however, to keep just within the limit of the law. They did not like jail any better than they liked their country's service.

Intellectuals Who Are Dangerous.

The officials of the American administration are alive to this situation. There is today in the United States an active group of propagandists in behalf of communism. These men, in the main, are fanatics and are willing to go to any extreme, even one which involves imminent personal danger to themselves, to carry on their work. The Americans who help them are a different type. They get a certain flattery for their "intellectualities," from what they write and from what they say, but not one of them is willing, as are the foreign agents, to endanger their heads or their skins through overt acts. They are none the less dangerous, however, for they preach destruction, even if the preaching is done in parlors and their sermons are printed on the soft-tinted paper of the feminists.

There is an attempt today by these persons to plead that nothing should be done to interfere with freedom of speech, or freedom of writing. Of course the United States government does not want to interfere with anything of this kind if it is proper, but when the stuff makes for the destruction of our institutions it seems to Washington officials it is necessary to continue to be watchful and doing.

They are still at it, and if one can get pardon from his readers for so putting it, these preacher-propagandists and parlor Bolsheviks are a rotten bunch, unworthy of any American consideration, and it might be added that the intellectuality of which they make boast is the intellectuality of a donkey. Congress is not immune from the influences of the unspunkables. It may be it will deny the Department of Justice the additional money asked. Certain it is that every man and woman and every organization in this country which wishes us ill in war, and which wishes us ill in peace, is endeavoring to do their best to prevent Uncle Sam from securing the means to protect himself and his institutions.

AUTOCRAT HAD UNHAPPY LIFE

Mighty Czar Could Find No One in His Dominion That Would Tell Him the Truth.

A dramatic little story that illuminates in a flash the strangely unwholesome life that the czar of Russia had to live in the old days is to be found in Mr. James L. Ford's book, "Forty-odd Years in the Literary Shop." Mr. Ford had an intimate acquaintance with Baron de Grimm, whose father had been the tutor of Alexander II of Russia, and who himself had been an intimate friend of the czar.

From De Grimm, he writes, I gained an idea of the isolation of an autocrat and the atmosphere of dread, suspicion and uncertainty that surrounds an autocratic court. When the Czar Alexander II sent his son to the Riviera for the sake of his health he received from the young man's attendants only vague reports in regard to his condition, although couriers arrived daily with letters. On one occasion the soldier who brought the post bag was ushered into the presence of the czar, who after a hasty glance at his correspondence exclaimed: "There is no letter from my son, and it is some days since I have heard from him."

"But, sire," exclaimed the soldier, "he is no longer able to write!"
"Not able to write!" exclaimed the sovereign of all the Russias. "Will nobody ever tell me anything?" And it may be remembered that Nicholas II uttered a like despairing cry when the news of the January massacre, which his courtiers had sedulously kept from him, finally reached his ears.—Youth's Companion.

Humors Come to the Surface in the spring as in no other season. They don't run themselves all off that way, however, but mostly remain in the system. Hood's Sarsaparilla removes them, wards off danger, makes good health sure.

DO YOU GET UP NIGHTS ON ACCOUNT OF BLADDER?

This Symptom Tells You Something
Is Wrong. A Dayton Man's Experience

Mr. John Lumpkins, 7 Carrie st. Dayton, Ohio, says in his own home paper, the Dayton Herald: "For two years I had had to get up fifteen to twenty times each night. The scalding and pain was awful. After taking a few doses of Lithia-Buchu, the gravel came, until at least twenty-five pieces have passed. Some were as large as a bean. I am glad to have this way of telling my fellow sufferers about this great new remedy."

Lithia-Buchu acts on the kidneys and bladder like Epsom Salts on the bowels. It cleans them out and helps to relieve the bladder of abnormal deposits. The tablets cost 2c each. This price makes it possible to place in the formula several expensive drugs, which are useful for relief. The formula is on the package. It is likely you have never taken anything similar. Try a few doses for backache, scalding, scanty or high colored urine and frequent desire at night.

Be sure to get the Keller formula Lithia-Buchu at The J. H. Lease Drug Co., The Bennett Drug Co. and drug stores everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicburg, Ohio.

FORMER WATER VALLEY SCHOOL PUPILS WILL GATHER FOR REUNION

Plans for a reunion of former and present teachers and pupils of Fairview, south of the city, were made at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher association Tuesday evening at the schoolhouse.

Some 20 years ago this schoolhouse was located in the flats, just below McCracken's corner, and was then known as Water Valley school. When it was moved up on the hill, a short distance from the corner, it was named Fairview. This reunion to be held May 6, will include those who attended when it was known as Water Valley school. It is understood about 200 invitations have been sent out. A picnic dinner will be a feature and probably a program will be given.

Following the business session a play entitled "Under the Laurels" was given by members of the Loyal Sons and Daughters class of Phillips.

Youngstown, April 6.—Milo Peosite, was knocked down and fatally injured by a jitney driven by Gabe Halliday last night. The child, according to witnesses, jumped from the curb in the path of the car. How It Happens.
Five villains, with gages upon their wrists, sat in durance vile.

"It is strange," said he, "that you five stalwart scoundrels, after robbing the bank and maltreating all persons who sought to stay you, should have allowed yourselves to be knocked down and hoisted by a bone-crushing cudgel."

"Alas, sir," replied the most low-browed of the lot, "our lack of foresight was our undoing. We expected to encounter only the usual heavily armed guard, which could not desire to show off. Of course, we did not know how to comport ourselves." —Kansas City Star.

From Ohio we hear:

"I decided to bake two cakes at the same time, using Royal Baking Powder in one, and another powder in the other. The cake made with Royal was so appetizing and delicious, so finely grained and wholesome that in comparison, the other cake was not a cake."

sings "I'm An Indian" on a new Victor record of her own, but after the tom-toms die down and the smoke clears away she confesses that she's after all, a Yiddisher squaw. She reverses things on the other side of this hectic record by assuming spookierhood and decaying in good Brooklyn Yiddish a low-lifer named Nathan, who is responsible. TO ABOLISH GAS!

There can be no peace on earth for a multitude of people until they get rid of the evil effects of gas in the stomach and bowels.

These distressing pains around your waist may be due to gas pressure. That excruciating, nervous feeling, often accompanied by heart palpitation, difficult breathing or a smothering sensation, can easily be traced to the same source.

To secure permanent relief you must abolish gas—prevent its formation. This can be done by taking Badmann's Gas Tablets, which act directly upon the seat of nerves controlling the digestive function and quickly assist in removing the cause of the trouble.

Badmann's Gas Tablets are perfectly harmless, but wonderfully effective. The first dose will prove their exceptional merit. Get a package today and enjoy some real relief. Genuine Badmann's Gas Tablets come only in the yellow package. Sold by Leese Drug Co. and leading druggists everywhere.

WHEN MR. RUSSELL WAS JUST 'PETE'

STORIES OF OUR MINISTER TO DOMINICAN REPUBLIC AS AN NAPOLIS MIDSHIPMAN.

HE WAS OFTEN IN TROUBLE

How the Now Grave Diplomat Broke Up a Tediouly Long Chapel Service—Built Skeleton That Boxed a Prying Officer.

Washington—Santo Domingo has been something of a source of anxiety and perplexity to the United States government for a long time. This country, however, is represented in the Dominican republic by an envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of long and tried experience, William W. Russell.

Now, this introduction is written because one wants to tell some stories about this servant of Uncle Sam, who is a grave diplomat, but with a light in his eye that neither gravity nor place can extinguish. He was not always a grave one burdened with the affairs of state. Once upon a time he was "Pete" Russell, midshipman at the United States Naval academy. William was reported at Annapolis in the years long gone by, but truth compels the statement that neither the official archives nor the cadets' records disclose the reason for turning William into Pete. Suffice it to know that the middies would have it that way and that way it went.

William W. Russell's memory is cherished at the Naval academy. His name is held in remembrance so strongly that no midshipman named Russell who has entered the academy in the nearly forty years that have elapsed since our Dominican envoy left there, has escaped the nickname of "Pete."

Not long ago I had dinner with a graduate of Annapolis who had known William W. Russell in his "Pete" days at the academy. Russell had a way with him and the middies and the authorities were not long in finding it out. Pete had difficulty in restraining himself on occasion, as witness:

Too Much Sermon and Solo for Pete.

One Sunday at Annapolis the chaplain preached long and droningly. The listening middies were tired out with the heat of the day and the burden of the sermon, which lasted an hour. The sermon over, a soloist in the choir, undeterred and undismayed by the length of the chaplain's discourse, started in to sing "Sun of My Soul." He went through the first line untrippingly and then struck into the second. "It is not night," he sang. Then he repeated, "It is not night," and repeated it again after the manner of soloists who don't know when the listeners have had enough, and, having a hold, are loath to let go.

Under the strain of the thing Pete stood up, whistled melodiously but very loudly the tune accompanying the third and fourth lines of the first stanza of "Sun of My Soul," and then before the bewildered and shocked officers could put in an interference, he calmly commanded the soloist to get a move on him.

They grabbed Pete out from the middle pew seat and marched him down the aisle under guard. When the corps was dismissed and was marching back to barracks Pete was going in the opposite direction headed for the prison ship Santee, with his books and his blanket swung over his shoulder.

As he passed the marching middies and the officers in command he was heard loudly soliloquizing, with head well down in counterfeited abjectness:

His Boxing Skeleton.

"Poor Pete, poor Pete, breakers right under poor Pete's bow." Once upon a time Pete set to work during his idle hours and constructed a skeleton more fearfully and wonderfully made than any man. Pete knew the peculiarities of a certain inspecting officer whose habit it was on entering a midshipman's room to see if all was well and orderly, to pull the door back with a sudden jerk and to look behind it for traces of sweepings.

Pete finished his skeleton and by the exercise of nothing less than devilish ingenuity he succeeded in so adjusting it that when the door was given a sharp, quick jerk, the thing would drive its fist straight into the eye of the man who did the jerking. He went to recitation the morning that the skeleton had been put up, and left his roommate, who didn't know that the skeleton behind the door was in existence, to suffer any consequence that might come.

The inspecting officer came and gave the door a jerk and was promptly poked in the eye by the bony hand of Pete's skeleton.

The officer instantly marched Pete's roommate to the Santee, where he was locked up. In three hours the roommate heard some shuffling steps outside his prison door. Looking out he saw Pete with his books and his blanket coming to share his durance.

"What's the matter, Pete?" he asked.

"Nothing," said Pete, "only I forgot to take that infernal skeleton down." The roommate was released.

CHIVALRY AND GOOD SENSE

New York Legislator Would Do Away With Embarrassing Question as to Voters' Age.

"What is your age?" In days of old the question was perfunctorily asked and answered in every voting booth. In the new days of equal suffrage it is still asked, but apologetically rather than perfunctorily, and it is sometimes answered resentfully. Occasionally a lady voter, especially one who has attained the dignity of middle age, considers the question impertinent. Yet one hates to commit perjury or anything that smacks of perjury.

In New York state, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, a gallant gentleman, who should have flourished in the days of knighthood, has introduced into the legislature of which he is a member a bill to do away with the age question. If this measure becomes a law it will be necessary for no one to tell her—or his—exact age. It will be quite sufficient for the elector to affirm that her—or his—twenty-first birthday has been passed.

This is chivalry, and it is also common sense. If one is of legal voting age the republic should require no more detailed information. We all wish the girls, young and old, to vote, and to vote without annoyance or resentment. Going to the polls should be made a pleasure. An important step will be taken if the New York law is enacted and copied.

"Are you twenty-one?" There is something positively delightful in such a question. And who would call it impertinent?

SENATE CHANGING THE TARIFF BILL

DEBATE OVER IT MAY NOT BE VERY LONG FOR SENATORS ARE TIRED OF TALKING

BONUS BILL GOING THROUGH

Action of Upper House on Measures Reducing the Army and Navy to Useless Proportions Cannot Yet Be Predicted.

Washington.—When the senate gets through with the tariff bill it will bear comparatively little resemblance to the measure as it passed the house. Of course a good deal of interest centers in the American valuation clause, which has been discussed to the tipping point time after time. As things are, however, dairy men want higher rates on eggs; bakers are asking for reduction on eggs; dye men want an extension of the period fixed for the embargo; soap men want something done in the matter of vegetable oils which are imported for saponaceous purposes; and then there is trouble over the rate proposed on raw stock picture films.

In the senate these days there are being repeated the scenes of the days of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. Various interests are represented here, each in its own behalf to beg for special provisions to protect this industry or that industry against what each man says is destruction.

Tariff discussions in open house and senate are apt to be dry affairs, but the hearings are not altogether sleep producing. Occasionally the petitioners, pro and con, enliven the proceedings with personalities and with doings which look as if they might culminate in old-fashioned rows. The public is showing more interest in the tariff proceedings in the room of the finance committee of the senate than it did in those in the ways and means room of the house. So far as the representatives are concerned, Mr. Fordney, the ways and means chairman, seemed to have made up his mind what he and his colleagues were going to do, and so the representatives of the various interests thought it useless to make much of a fight. Things are different over in the senate.

Senators Too Tired to Talk Long.

It begins to look today as if the tariff bill will not consume as much debate and argument time as it was at first supposed would be the case. This is not because senators have no strong opinions on this, that or the other provision of the bill, but because every one of them is tired out, and some of the most libellously active ones seem to be talked out. Perhaps they will get a second breath before the time to start the wind mills into action shall come, but there is every evidence today of actual fatigue in the senate chamber, something which has not been in evidence there for a good many years.

Not long ago it was believed that the senate either would postpone action on the bonus bill until another and a more convenient season, or would change it materially, probably cutting out the cash or near cash feature of the measure. Today the seeming wisecracks declare that the senate will pass the bill in pretty much the form in which it passed the house, and that President Harding under pressure of party persuasion will give it his endorsement.

Just what the senate will do with the measures on which the national safety depends, those which would reduce the army and navy to the point of uselessness, remains to be seen, but if the majority of the senators prove as panicky as was the case with a majority of the house men, they may endorse the propositions to cut the army and navy down to proportions which, while they will cost a good deal of money to maintain, will make them of little service to the government. In other words, the President seems to believe and so do all army and navy men, that if the proposed reductions are made it might be just as well to go further and wipe the army off the earth and the navy off the sea.

Harding May Save Army and Navy.

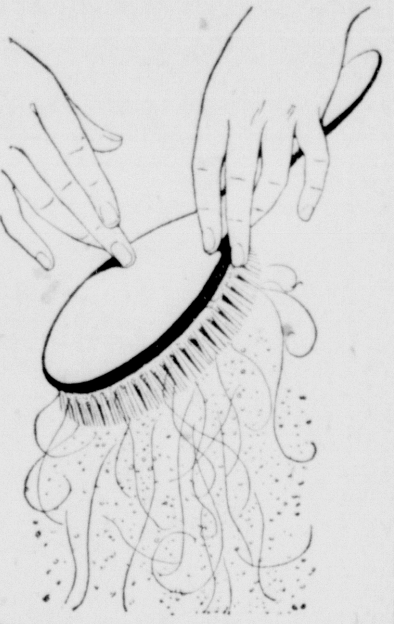

Within a few days flat statement has been made by men who seem to know the administration's mind that if the senate shall do what the house wants to do, and provide for a pigmy army and navy, President Harding will veto the bills. Not even in the days preceding the entrance of the United States into the war with Germany were the evidences of extreme pacifism more salient than they are in Washington today. Congressmen seem to hold the thought that because the treaties have been ratified by the senate, there no longer is any need for an American force, either on land or on sea. They seem to have the confidence of babes that nobody is going to hurt them or theirs in the future and that therefore no strong army of protection is necessary.

President Harding, it is said, believes that the action of the house in army and navy matters is purely political and that the members are not such fools personally as they appear to be, but that they were directed along the line of destruction of every defense measure solely by the thought that their constituents would approve of the course and that therefore they would vote them back into office.

Refused to Award Prize.

Eighty-three years ago the city of Frankfurt-am-Main, birthplace of Goethe and home of Germany's greatest bankers, established a Mozart prize to be awarded annually for the best musical composition along any line that the competitors might feel disposed to follow. Forty-five manuscripts were submitted in 1921, but for the first time in the history of the prize, worth 5,000 marks, no award was made, the reason being inferior quality of all the works sent in. One of the competitors was Engelbert Humperdinck.—New York Evening Post.

Lisbon Claims Oldest Drug Store In Ohio

County Auditor Hamilton's Store Was Established 116 Years Ago.

Lisbon, April 26.—Six years after "New Lisbon" was founded, in 1806, there came into the town from Baltimore, Md., Martin Helman. He established a drug store, the first business of the kind to be set up in Center township. This business began in 1809 continues active, and today is held by the third owner.

When Helman started in business, it was a hard and tedious matter to obtain merchandise. Practically all the stock in the general and drug store was purchased in Baltimore and there being no rail or water route to Lisbon in those days, the merchant had to be hauled overland.

Eventually, the growing business which Martin Helman established passed into the control of his son, Charles F. Helman. The latter began to buy merchandise in Philadelphia as well as Baltimore. Three months was generally the time required to deliver an order from the time it was made out in the store. When a customer inquired for a particular item in those days and it was not in stock, the buyer would be informed that "we're getting it on the next load."

Was Center of Trade
During the period in which Martin Helman and his son had this business, "New Lisbon" was the center of trade for a rather large territory. Being located on the main traveled Pittsburg-Canton rd., this was always a stopping point. Taverns and inns did a thriving business.

In addition to supplying all the local trade, the Helman store also shipped merchandise as far west as Mansfield.

As the years rolled on, the Helman store continued to prosper but in 1840 the business passed over to the control of A. J. Blocksom, who was known for miles around as "Jack." "Jack" Blocksom was one of the live wires of those early days, and he wanted to see how people did business in other places. He made up his mind that he would visit stores in Baltimore, and he went there, making the trip on horseback, arriving three weeks later.

Looking around the stores in Baltimore, Blocksom "discovered" a soda fountain which was just being placed on the market in those days. Immediately he thought what a "drawing card" such a machine would be in "New Lisbon," and he placed an order for one. Three months later it was delivered by the overland route, and this proved to be the first soda fountain placed in any store west of the Pennsylvania state line.

First Soda Fountain
Just as had been expected, the soda fountain did prove a big drawing card, and as a result it did a thriving business and paid for itself in a short time.

For 29 years Mr. Blocksom continued the head of this business, when he disposed of his interests to W. M. Hostetter, who is still active in business here and M. N. Hamilton, father of County Auditor Charles E.

First to establish the $10.90 price—"Usco"

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—

"Hereafter the price of the 30x3½ 'Usco' is $10.90." The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value.

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price field (now that the season promises business from the American car-owner), it is worth remembering that "Usco" showed its good faith by announcing this price last fall.

The same intent to serve that has made "Usco" a standard value for years.

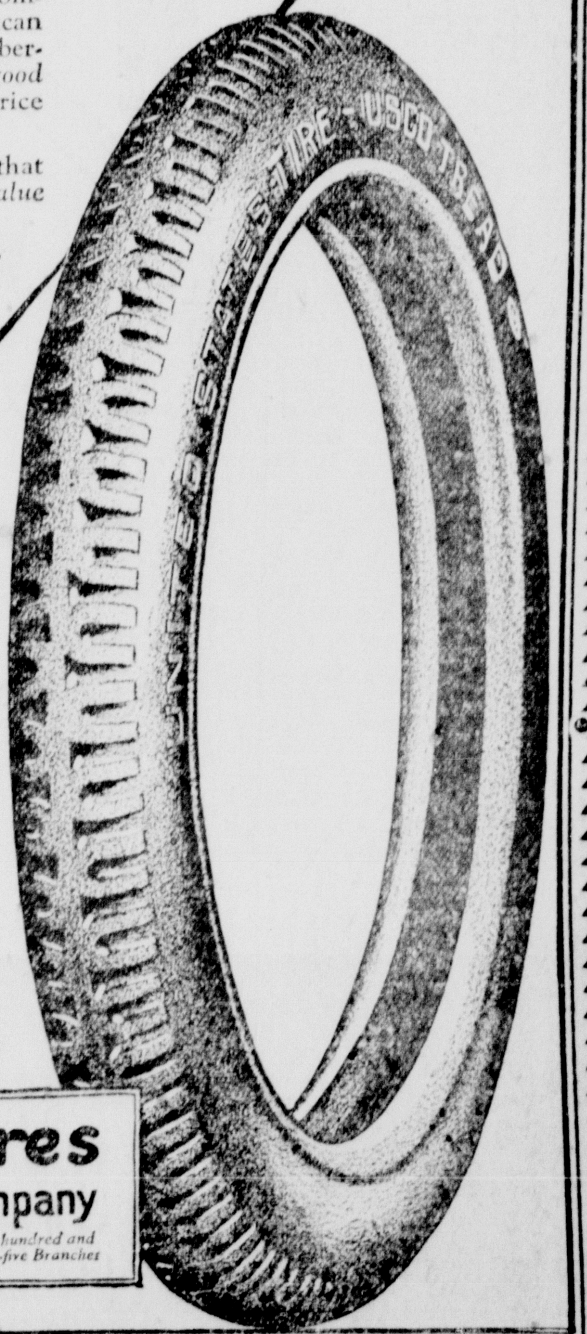

The "Usco" Tire was never better than it is today—with its established quality, its time-tested performance, and its price closely figured in time with the times.

OHIO TO COMPLETE SEVEN TRUNK HIGHWAYS IN 1922

Ohio's state highway program for this year will be outlined at the annual convention of the Ohio State Automobile Association to be held in Columbus May 15 and 16. Seven through routes across the state will be completed in 1922, according to the plans which have been completed by Highway Commissioner Leon C. Herrick and which he will explain in detail at the meeting of the good roads board scheduled for the second day of the convention. That section will be presided over by Raymond Beck as chairman. A year ago there was formulated the policy of connecting the through routes traversing Ohio rather than expending state funds for the extension of local roads. Second year's development along this line will witness the completion of three east-and-west routes, three extending north and south and another crossing the state diagonally

Woman Mayor May Be Oles' Running Mate

Dr. Amy Kaukonen, Fairport's Mayor, Would Help Him, Oles Asserts.

Youngstown, April 26. — Mayor George L. Oles, as an independent candidate for governor, may have as his running mate Dr. Amy A. Kaukonen, mayor of Fairport.

Women over the state have begun urging her as candidate for lieutenant governor with him, believing such a ticket a sure winner, Oles said Wednesday.

"I'm going to open my campaign in a couple of weeks. I'll do it right here in Youngstown, among the folks who showed their confidence in me, by electing me mayor."

"The first campaign subscription arrived Tuesday. It was $5 and came from Cleveland. It was sent by a man who said he was glad to boost such a good cause."

"Conducting a campaign over the entire state will be costly and Oles will need financial assistance from people who believe as he does, that Ohio is entitled to better government than it has been getting. People who hope for better things will be glad to contribute, when they realize an actual political housecleaning will follow."

Oles Welcomes Her
"Dr. Amy A. Kaukonen will be willing to be a candidate for lieutenant governor on my ticket. I know that because in my mail this morning was a letter from a close friend of hers at Fairport suggesting that very thing."

"She's right on the dry question. There's no doubt of that, for she has been cleaning out the bootleggers since she became mayor of Fairport. And she is an able woman, being a college graduate and a physician with a medical college degree."

"I've never met Dr. Kaukonen but have heard much about her and it has all been good. And there's no reason why a woman should not be on the ticket and there are many reasons why she should. Women have the same right to hold office as men."

"When I am governor the only standard is to be able and Miss Kaukonen has already shown much executive ability. I'm depending on the good women of Ohio to help elect me and I can't see anything out of the way in having a good woman with me on the independent ticket."

Girls Complete School Course In Three Years

Leetonia, April 26.—Miss Nellie McGinley has the honor of having the highest grade in the Senior class in the Leetonia High school. Miss Bertha Gaver stands second, both completing a four-year course in three years. Third, Miss Mae Degnan; fourth, Miss Frances Gintler.

Three other students in the High school were tied for first place in rank. They are Miss Florence Groner, John Sammon, sophomores, and Miss Ambretta Strouse, freshmen. The three had an average grade of 94.5 each.

THE MODERN MOTHER
faces problems far beyond those of her forebears. She herself must be a much more competent person, combining in one individual the duties of nurse, cook, teacher and moral instructor. It is no wonder that many conscientious women break under the strain, and that others drag out a miserable existence, always tired, and yet unable to take a day's vacation. Such women will find themselves benefited and their burdens made easier by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was made for suffering women, and does not fail to relieve them.

THREE SEEK TO HEAD SCHOOLS OF LEETONIA

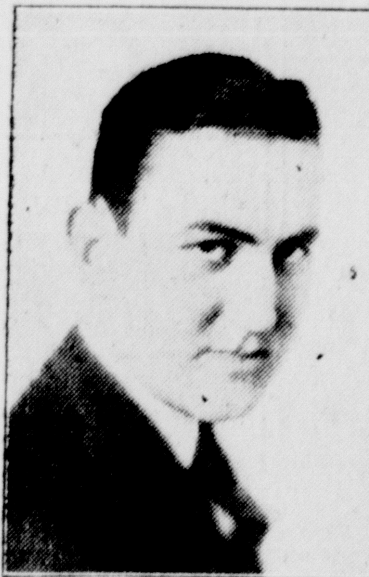

Leetonia, April 26.—At the recent meeting of the board of education of Leetonia one of the first problems to be disposed of was the teacher's salary problem by adopting the former schedule minus the $50 bonus.

Instructions were given Supt. Floyd to notify all teachers and all applicants that their applications for positions as teachers must be filed in writing with the clerk of the board. Three applications for superintendent and three for teachers are already on file. The monthly payroll was made up and in order that this might be met a temporary loan of $1,500 was authorized.

A Willing Spirit.
An old, crippled colored man recently knocked at the door of a North side residence and asked for work, relates the Indianapolis News. Having no work, she thought he could do, the woman of the house answered in the negative but she gave him his breakfast instead. When he handed back his dishes she espied a check in the empty coffee cup and asked the meaning of it, and he said: "Just show it to the mister." It developed that it was a canceled check of the vintage of '16. The housewife accepted it in the spirit it was intended and sent the old fellow happily on his way.

Alimony Order Issued

Judge Moore on Tuesday ordered William Bolen, Salem fire chief, to pay his wife, Tillie, $40 as alimony and $10 per week until such time as the court makes a further order. Mrs. Bolen recently sued for alimony charging the defendant with neglect, cruelty and drunkenness, and he has now filed a cross petition in which he denied her charges, and charges her with not having been a dutiful wife, refusing to cook his meals, and doing everything in her power to humiliate him and have him suspended from duty.

If you are thin and emaciated and wish something to help you put on flesh and increase your weight, Yeast Vitamine Tablets should be used in connection with organic Nuxated Iron. With organic iron, both food and Vitamine are absolutely essential to our body cannot change inert, lifeless food into living cells and tissues unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood just as fire unites with coal or wood, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good.

Arrangements have been made with the druggists of this city to give every reader of this paper a large $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free with every purchase of a bottle of Nuxated Iron.

can Automobile Insurance company of Missouri, against Samuel McCann, which was tried in court last month, the jury returning a verdict for the defense. Judgment was entered in favor of the defendant for costs.

The plaintiff company carried insurance covering an automobile owned by George Petrackes of East Liverpool, and when the car was badly damaged in a collision with a car owned and driven by McCann on the road between Lisbon and Franklin Square, the company filed suit against McCann to recover judgment for $975.

Verdict For Plaintiff

The case filed several months ago by John E. Shields against Ralph O. Brittain of East Palestine, in which judgment was asked for $10,000, was tried to Judge Moore without a jury and judgment was entered for the plaintiff for $1,250, and reformation of the deed transferring the Middleton township farm lands to him was also ordered. A motion asking for a new trial was overruled.

In September, 1920, Shields purchased several tracts of farm lands in Middleton from Brittain and he claimed that he discovered later the defendant did not have any right or interest in one of the tracts transferred, and also claimed, in the petition he filed to recover from him, that Brittain represented to him that there was 25 acres of No. 7 vein coal underlying one of the hills, when as a matter of fact there was but from four to eight acres.
